City Grants Pay Hikes to Staff

Police Chief, Others Also Get Increases

The City Council Tuesday night adopted a salary step plan to be effective July 1 which will result in individual pay increases of approximately five dollars per month in the cases of most of the city's 30 employees, not including department heads.

In a separate action the council granted salary into three department heads, the chief of police, fire chief and water superintendent, bringing each to $400 per month level. To Police Chief Gordon E. McMillan this represents an increase of $40 a month, and an increase of approximately $20 a month to Police Officer James Heasley who also receives a salary as fire chief. Remuneration for the latter was increased from $57.50 to $77.50 per month.

Salary increases for other department heads will be taken under advisement, it was de-

City Administrator R. Merritt Baker explains that the general increase is expected to offset employees' contributions to a retirement or pension plan which may be put into effect in the future.

The council last night approved the expenditure of the sum of $310 to the state to make an actuarial survey for arriving at the cost of such a plan. This will be compared with costs of a federal plan supplemented by benefits provided by a private insurance company.

Councilmen By-Pass Crossing Meet

An invitation from the Public Utilities Commission to send representatives to a hearing Monday morning in Arcadia to consider the establishment of a grade crossing ove Fe tracks at South Baldwin was not acted upon at the City Council meeting Tuesday night other than that it was to be "taken under advisement."

Since the council will not meet again until that night, June 29, it precludes the likelihood of designating a representative.

City Attorney T. Guy Cronyn observed that such a crossing would "induce Sierra Madre shoppers to visit West Arcadia shops."

Cornyn, Noren Eaton and other councilmen expressed the opinion that a grade crossing, as compared to an underpass, would create a major traffic problem and bottleneck.

Report, Residents' Protests Harold J. Spears, subdivider of a tract of ridge property above the north section of Auburn Ave., was notified yesterday by City Administrator R. Merritt Baker that he is in violation of his approval to sub Authorized by action of the City Council Tuesday night, Baker delivered this ultimatum yesterday: That the subdivider immediately take steps to conform with approval require-ments, under the city's supervision and inspection, or that work would be halted and building permits withheld.

According to word received from city administrator R. M. Baker at press time yester-day (Wednesday). Harold Spears "has agreed to com-ply with the requirements of the approved map for his subdivision number 17456." This agreement was reached at a meeting of Mr. Spears with Mr. Baker and Fred Pack, city engineer, yesterday afternoon in the city ad-ministrator's office.

City Engineer Reports

City Engineer L. Frederick Pack, by written report to the council, and protesting owners of adjacent properties, on hand in person, pointed out to the council that the subdivider is liable to civil action if the faulty grading in question causes damage to the properties be-low the tract. The area is known to be subject to infrequent but heavy floodings. The situation came to the council's attention at its June 9 meeting in a letter from Paul Bowerman, 707 Auburn, in which he declared that the subdivider's changes in the topography of the tract and the dumping of "enormous quanti-ties of loose decomposed granite in close proximity" to his property constituted a hazard to that property.

A petition signed by 14 nearby property owners also pointed out that a "great quantity" of brush at the north end of the tract is a fire hazard and the council ordered its immediate removal.

City Engineer Pack's report to the council of his findings and recommendations was approved and upheld by the coun-

MID-JUNE WAS "HAPPY BIRTHDAY" time for Virginia Sayles who opened her dress shop at 1 Kersting Court just a year ago. "Couldn't be happier," she says about her decision to locate in Sierra Madre. Apologies to "Unknown."

There are many things and occasions that we know are not worthwhile. One would wonder why the men of the fire department (who work at their daily tasks) return time after time to the drills and meetings and then again to the hard strenuous work of fighting a fire. There must be some mysterious satisfaction behind it all. Only a volunteer fire fight. er can ever explain that. And yet there are periods when each and every one of these fellows wonder if it is worthwhile.

They wonder sometimes if the general public doesn't reach a state of mind where they begin to actually expect others to serve them. Too many people forget that they, too, are serving the public, regardless of their occupation or business.

The men of the fire department are not complaining, far be it. The whole object is to remind those who are thought-less and critical to try and place themselves in the boots

Regardless of the warnings of the Firemen and those who are sent to investigate hazards, there are a few residents who will not co-operate. They will promise to eliminate trash and when the return inspection is made, there has been very little done. This is not being fair to the fire department. Your firemen are seriously endeavoring to keep fires away from Sierra Madre and it is vitally important that residents assist.

We have been given a survey by the Underwriters and they tell us that we are much in need of many expensive layouts and that we are staying in the sixth rating by the skin of our teeth. Let's show 'em.

Of Rats and People

Sierra Madre has had one case of typhus and it could have

Typhus is transmitted by fleas from infected rats. As long as there are harborages for rats in the city there will be rats. In some minds typhus is associated with the bubonic and pulmonic plagues of the Middle Ages but county health officials explain that the organisms are different, that the endemic typhus which occurred in Sierra Madre last month is comparatively mild but can be fatal, in elderly persons particularly. It is reported to be successively treated by some of the newer antibiotics, especially chloromycitine, but even so contemplation of the disease in modern times, considering the source, is distasteful to say the least.

PRIDE IN CITY

Sierra Madreans who take pride in the appearance of the city, as well as in its health standards, must agree wholeheartedly with Dr. C. C. Burski, Monrovia district health officer of the Los Angeles County Health Department, who says:

"If people would keep the outsides of their homes as immaculately as they do their own persons and interiors of houses the rat harborage problem would be slight."

Dr. Burski hastens to point out that there is no indication based on reports to his office that there are any more rodents in Sierra Madre than in any other area in his district.

However, it appear to us and he agrees, that even an isolated case of typhus can and should be used to point up the need for eliminating harborages and food sources . . . to clean up, in

"Rats will not linger where they can't get food and hiding," he says.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE?

Where does the responsibility lie?

With property owners, of course, and with the city, according to provisions in its health charter with the county. A big thing like rodent control, Dr. Burski says, is covered separately in the charter and provides that the county will take measures to wage war against rat tribes on the request and at the cost of the city. City Administrator R. Merritt Baker bears this out, adding that the City then passes on the cost, which is moderate, to the When a report reaches the City Hall on an infraction of the City ordinance on insect and rodent infestation the information is sent on to the county whose health officer in turn makes an inspection and takes extermination measures, billing the City. Baker says hardly a month goes by that such charges aren't made. A "repeater," he says, is the old Minnie Davis property at Hermosa and Grandview. The City school owns the property now and it is hoped the old house will be razed; neighbors hope the rodent situation there is cleared up before that happens.

PROVISIONS IN ORDINANCE

The city ordinance on infestation makes it obligatory that home and property owners, for one thing, keep piles of wood and lumber elevated off the ground so they do not provide rat har-

> Dr. Burski feels the county has more than fulfilled its duties in the Sierra Madre typhus incident. Approximately 150 homes and properties in Mrs. Tate's neighborhood have been inspected by county health officers and owners advised by letter if their properties required attention.

SECOND TYPHUS INCIDENT

Dr. Burski tells the News that in the span of the past 40 years the recent incidence of typhus is only the second. Th first was in Altadena in December, 1951, when 11 typhus cases were reported. The infected rats responsible had scattered after the tearing down of an old stable.

However, there was an epidemic of pulmonic plague—also transmitted by fleas from infected rats-in this district sometime in the late 20's and 32 cases were reported. The mortality rate? One hundred per cent!

Even the comparatively mild typhus which occurred in Sierra Madre last month-transmitted by fleas from infected rats-is a feverish and debilitating disease and can be fatal to elderly persons or those with low resistance.

Children could be victims. Family pets could be temporary "hosts" to the guilty Cheopis fleas which live on rats. Upon leaving the body of a dead and infected rodent, the fleas find haven on the first fur-bearing animal at hand.

DOWNTOWN PARKING LOTS

A practically perfect set-up for parking is the one hundred (100) feet of frontage on South Baldwin Avenue, running north from the Suffolk corner lot to the eighteen (18) foot wide public alley some two hundred (200) feet below Sierra Madre Boulevard. In addition there is a nine (9) foot wide legal easement from the southeast corner of this parcel to Suffolk. This one hundred (100) feet of Boulevard frontage, averaging one hundred and fifty-eight (158) feet in depth, could accommodate easily and comfortably forty cars. More if crowded. A copy of the map may be seen at the News

FOR THIS CIVIC NEED this property is available for fifteen thousand (15,000) dollars. The owner, Dr. John L. Woehler, has refused many opportunities to subdivide this property, including two hundred and fifty dollars ($250.00) per front foot for fifty feet for the Sierra Madre Post Office.

The parking lot on West Sierra Madre Boulevard, east of Safeway, owned and furnished to the public, by the Bank of Sierra Madre, should be purchased by, or for, the City of Sierra Madre.

These, with the suggested property north of the City Hall, and the west end of the old Pacific Electric right of way, running east from Baldwin, would take care of the PRES-ENT downtown retail shopping needs. Other arrangements should be made for the cars of factory owners, merchants, and all personnel, and for all other daytime 'storage' of cars. To plan for FUTURE volume of retail business we will have to be as awake as are Arcadia and Pasadena. If other property owners are as thoughtful of the city's welfare as is Dr. Woehler, no condemnations will be needed.

Whatever money is made available, in whatever way. from whatever source, it should be spent for the properties most practical, AND INVITING, to use. Full discussion and reporting would be a safeguard.

Artists Visit Here With Mrs. Narozny

Visitors in the home of Mrs. Helen Narozny, 630 Fairview, are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ransley of Park Ridge, Ill.

Both professional artists, the Ransleys are known as Frank Ransley and Kenneth Brown Ransley, respectively. They both specialize in portraits. Mrs. Ransley is especially known for her sepia pastel portraits, which, she says, are scattered all over the world with the families and friends of servicemen, whose portraits she painted during the war years when she worked at the Chicago Service Center.

The Ransleys and Mrs. Narozny, well known local artist, first became friends about 40 years ago when they studied together at the Chicago Art Institute.

Arriving Sunday, one of the first sightseeing jaunts the Ransleys made was to the local Artists exhibit at the Community Fair.

Cub Scouts

Mayfair Dr., and Tommy Mc-Keehan, 372 Del Rey, proved to be star salesmen in a doughnut sale recently conducted by members of Cub Scout Pack 11. The boys staged a bitter battle for first prize honors and thereby were in a large measure responsible for the outstanding

Both were rewarded with duplicate prizes of fresh water fishing outfits and word has reached this reporter that the boys have already tried the equipment and almost succeeded in bringing home a string of bluegill from San Dimas reservoir last Sun-

Third prize went to Louis Rios who won a Voit basketball for selling 100 dozen and Robert Keilty was given a Brownie camera as fourth prize for his efforts in selling 80 dozen

Although Pack 11 is still in its infancy, having been organized in March of this year, this gang of 20 hustlers managed to sell 1150 dozen doughnuts, a noteworthy achievement one must admit.

DON BENITO DISTRICT ORGANIZED FOR CIVIL DEFENSE; QUERIES ANSWERED

By MRS. BERTRAM L. POTTER Civil Defense Chairman

Don Benito School District Upper Hastings Ranch, in the Don Benito School District, has completed its Civil Defense organization

During the coming week Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and Campfire Girls will distribute to each householder, names, addresses phone numbers of the neighborhood unit wardens. The instructions will inform householders which warden to call in the event of any disaster emergency.

CD Questioned While it would appear that no community in the mid-20th century has total immunity from the vagaries of man and nature, the lieutenants responsible for the organization work have reported certain queries as to the need for a CD organization. It has been questioned whether such an organization is necessary at this time; whether it only serves to put people in a state of hysteria; whether it is worthless because faced with disaster, everyone will panic in any event; whether the program by its very existence discourages families from practicing self-help.

The Time is Now The lieutenants have pointed out that NOW is the only time that any relief organization can be created. The Red Cross can aid flood victims only because it is set up BEFORE the deluge. -Turn to page ten

Gingrich Family Has Relatives From East

The Robert Gingrich family, 3785 Newhaven Rd., have been enjoying a visit from Mrs. Gingrich's mother, Mrs. Rose Gainey, and her cousin, Mrs. O. C. Leveque from Flint, Mich. The ladies who have been here since March, returned home last week.

During the recent tornado in Michigan, Mrs. Gingrich, her mother, and cousin were considerably concerned as to the well-being of their relatives in Flint; however, after some delay in getting a call through, they were able to learn that their families and homes were untouched and that all was well in their part of the city, the south end. The storm, it seems, had done damage only in a particular section in the northern part. Their families did report the terrifying experi-ence of hearing the tornado swirling through the city in a crooked path and not knowing which direction it would turn next.
